THE GREAT STRIKE.

The Strike Continues with Some Violence to Non-Union Men.

Freight Piling-Up at New York Piers and Depots.

Knights of Three States Pledge their Support.

The New York Strike.

NEW YORK, February 2. Streets along the river fronts this morning presented a Sunday-like appearance. Instead of the daily rush of vehicles of all kinds, in every direction, there were only a few trucks and horsecars to be seen here and there. A majority of the big railroad freight receiving and delivery piers were closed and work was almost suspended. The exception was in the case of Pier 5, the Pennsylvania, where a dozen men were put to work. The men seemed lost among the huge piles of freight. At the New York Central and Erie piers few men were at work. The Arizona of the Guion line arrived to-day and men will be put to work on her. The Wyoming agent said she would sail to-day.

The Wyoming, of the Union line, sailed to-day. The Arizona is discharging her cargo. The Morgan line pier is piled high with freight. Orders were given to-day to receive no more.

A secret meeting of delegates representing fifteen district assemblies Knights of Labor in the states of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, and comprising 120,000 members outside of district assembly 49, held in this city last night, at which the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, We recognize in the conflict now being waged against members of district assemblies 49, 103, 12[illegible], and the Montauk district of Long Island, as well as various other trade and labor organizations, by capitalists and corporations, an attempt to strike a fatal blow at organized labor and thereby increase their power to oppress producers and degrade honest toil, therefore

Resolved, That we, the representatives of combined districts of Knights of Labor of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, extend to our brothers and comrades our heartfelt sympathy and moral support, and if necessary pledge to the fullest extent of our ability our financial aid.

VIOLENCE BY STRIKERS.

NEW YORK, February 2. Non-union freight handlers were again attacked this evening as they were quitting work at several of the North river piers. At the Savannah line pier two or three men were set upon by strikers and beaten, pounded and kicked unmercifully. No arrests were made. One man was assaulted while a policeman stood near, but he did not dare to interfere on account of the crowd. Finally a force of police was sent to the Savannah pier and the non union men were taken away on a tug to avoid the mob. Nearly 100 men were loading La Bretagne at the French pier to-day. No trouble was had.

JERSEY CITY, February 2. Large crowds of striking longshoremen attacked fifty non-union men this morning in Hoboken, using clubs and bricks and injuring a number of workingmen seriously.

A BOYCOTT ESTABLISHED.

SOUTH AMBOY, N. J., February 2. Strikers have induced storekeepers here to boycott the Pennsylvania Railroad company by threatening to boycott them if they sold goods to that corporation.

AN OYSTER FAMINE

KEYPORT, N. J., February 2. No oysters or clams are being shipped from this port to New York because of the freight handlers' strike. Owners of oyster beds at Red Bank, Oceanic and Fair Haven are also unable to fill their orders. They say the supply in New York will not last a week longer.

COMPELLED TO CLOSE

HUNTER'S POINT, February 2.—Owing to the continued strike of stevedores at their docks and inability to ship goods, the Devoe Manufacturing Co. were compelled to shut down to-day, throwing out of employment between 300 and 400 persons. It is feared that other oil works will also shut down unless the strike ends soon.

FREIGHT HANDLERS GOING OUT.

JERSEY CITY, February 2. Freight handlers employed on depots of the Pennsylvania in this city struck at noon to-day. The men marched out in a body but made no demonstrations. Striking freight handlers at the Erie depot remain out. All business is at a standstill at freight stations.

A Denver Suicide

DENVER, February 2.—Charles F. Warren, clerk in the sporting goods establishment of Geo. F. Higgins & Co., attempted suicide this morning by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor. The man is still alive but is not expected to [illegible] morning. Warren was just recovering from an attack of facial erysipelas and it is supposed the disease affected his brain so that he was laboring under a fit of temporary insanity at the time the attempt was made.

Spies' Marriage

PITTSBURG, February 2, Mrs. John Arthurs, aunt of Mrs. Spies nee Miss Van Zandt, was visited by a reporter at her residence at Oakland this morning. She appeared very much distressed and was loth to believe the report. "I can hardly believe," said Mrs. Arthurs, "that the law will permit this infamous marriage to stand. If it should be decided binding Nina's life will be wrecked." In conclusion Mrs. Arthurs said: "Since this unenviable notoriety has been thrust upon us I have been deluged with letters from all parts of the country soliciting money and tendering kindly advice in regard to the distribution of my wealth in event of my death."

A Steamer Ashore

SANDY HOOK, N. J., February 2. At 5 o'clock to-night a patrolman from Monmouth Beach life saving station No. 3 found a large steamer ashore about half a mile south of the station. She has passengers on board, and they were screaming when the life saving crew with their apparatus reached the place. She had gone aground about half a mile off shore, and it is thought she is leaking. The weather is very thick. There is a heavy sea on and it is raining. At first the wind was blowing with a velocity of 25 miles an hour, but it has moderated since.

Verdict of Murder

DENVER, February 2. The jury in the district court in the case of Luther Craven (colored) charged with killing Thomas Terrill, also colored, on September 5, 1886, returned a verdict this evening of murder in the second degree.

Colorado Legislature

SENATE.

DENVER, February 2.—In the senate this morning several petitions were read, protesting against division of Larimer county.

A petition was offered asking amendment to the school law so Spanish may be taught in the schools. Referred to the committee on education.

The president then signed H. M. No. 3, regarding pleuro-pneumonia.

The committee on education recommended that S. B. 87, "Schools," be printed. Adopted. Also S. B. 95, to refund school district bonds, that it do pass. Adopted.

The committee on judiciary recommended S. B. 207, "Railroads," for printing. Adopted.

The committee on stock reported S. B. 101, branding and herding, recommending that it be printed. Adopted.

The committee on labor reported S. B. 153, to exempt certain earnings from levy, recommended to be tabled. Adopted.

The following named bills came up for third reading and final passage:

S. B. 43, to amend sections 1 and 21, chapter xvi, general statutes, entitled "Conveyances."

S. B. 87, recording brands.

S. B. 104, regulating distribution of water from irrigation ditches.

S. B. 88, stock.

S. J. R., appointment of commissioners to secure the removal of Southern Utes.

H. B. 51, creating the county of Chilcott.

The Ute commissioner bill was defeated.

The following bills were passed:

S. B. 43, conveyances; S. B. 88, stock; S. B. 87, recording brands; H. B. 51, to create the county of Washington; S. B. 104, irrigation ditch.

Consideration of S. C. R. No. 2, adjournment, was indefinitely postponed.

It was moved that S. B. No. 8[illegible], exempting certain earnings of debtors from levy, be taken from the table and referred to the committee on printing. It was so ordered and the senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

During the reading of the minutes in the house a communication was received from the senate, giving notice of concurrence in H. J. M. No. 3, concerning stock, the passage of S. J. M. No. 1, for a grass experimental station; and the passage of S. B. No. 75, fees, and S. B. No. 93, irrigation.

The committee on irrigation reported on H. B. 119, providing against extortion by ditch companies that it do pass.

The committee on state affairs reported recommending the passage of S. J. M. No. 6, contagious diseases.

The judiciary committee made a report on H. B. 240, on judicial districts, and recommended indefinite postponement; H. B. 2[illegible], notaries public, that it be laid on the table; H. B. 177, to prevent black-listing employes, that it be laid on the table, H. B. 188, concerning prisoners, to be indefinitely postponed.

On motion of Winters of La Plata, the following resolution was read:

Resolved, by representatives, the senate concurring, That in view of the anarchy now prevailing in the county of Archuleta in this state, it is the sense of the general assembly that immediate action should be taken and measures best adapted for the suppression of anarchy, restoration of official power and proper administration of the laws of this state and this country.

Resolved, That there be appointed a joint committee consisting of two members of the senate and three members of the house to investigate the condition of affairs in said Archuleta county with full power to send for persons, books and papers, take testimony under oath, etc., and make report to this assembly as to the condition of affairs in said county to the end that the law may be maintained and good order at once established.

The resolution went over until to-morrow.

A motion of Balsinger, that members who travel on passes receive no mileage, was carried, 24 to 20.

After the introduction of a number of new bills the house went into committee of the whole, Dean in the chair, for consideration of H. B. 6[illegible], concerning schools, which was reported for passage. The committee arose, reported and adjourned to 10 to-morrow morning.

Egyptian Items

CAIRO, February 2.—Henry M. Stanley, who will leave here Thursday for Zanzibar, will be accompanied by eighty negroes. The total force of his expedition for the relief of Emin Bey will be 1200 men. He does not expect any opposition.

The government has raised the blockade of Soudan, and commerce with that region has been reopened.

Edgar Vincent has visited and inspected the Egyptian petroleum works and makes favorable reports about them.

THE DEADLOCK BROKEN.

Allen's Name Dropped in the Indiana Contest.

And the Democratic Candidate Receives a Majority.

It is Understood the Republicans will Make a Contest.

Turpie Wins

INDIANAPOLIS, February 2.—Turpie was elected United States senator in joint session of the legislature to-day. During the call of the roll Representative Robinson rose and made a statement of the agreement entered into by himself and Gates, Glover and Mackey to secure the election of Allen. He added that he was now convinced that it was hopeless to endeavor to elect as senator any man not a member of one of the two great parties and his constituents were urgent in their demands. He had decided to cast his vote for David Turpie. This announcement was greeted with wild cheers from the democrats. Gates, Glover and Mackey, republican labor members, then made brief explanations and cast their ballots for Harrison, the vote standing Turpie 76, Harrison 74.

In the senate Turpie received 32 and Harrison 18, in the house Turpie 44 and Harrison 56. Immediately on the termination of the call of the house roll the speaker announced that there was no election and passed the figures to President Smith of the senate whose privilege it is under the agreement to announce the total vote, and he at once called out that David Turpie had been elected senator of the United States to serve six years from the 4th of March next. Speaker Sayre declared Smith was an usurper and had no right to make such announcement as president of the joint convention, but the speaker's remarks were unheeded.

All protests against votes of members as recorded on the day joint balloting began under the compromise agreement apply to the ballot taken to-day. After the announcement of the vote Gardiner, republican, moved that the joint convention adjourn until noon. Carried.

It is understood, although not authoritatively, that the joint convention to-morrow will cast their ballots for Harrison, thus making up a formal case for presentation to the United States senate.

XLIX Congress

SENATE

WASHINGTON, February 2. The senate began at one o'clock this afternoon with an important debate based on a statement by Allison as to the probable receipts and expenditures of the government for the next fiscal year. Allison showed by figures that there would be a very small surplus if any.

Platt took up the question of coast defenses and argued that congress would be derelict to its clearest and most imperative duties if it adjourned without making liberal appropriations for fortifications, guns and ships.

After some discussion as to the constitutionality of the measure, the senate passed a special appropriation of ten thousand dollars for special distribution of seeds in the drought stricken sections of Texas.

A message was presented from the president with a communication from the secretary of state transmitting Lieut. Scheutze's report in regard to his distributing testimonials of the preservation of survivors of the Jeannette expedition.

The senate resumed consideration of the sundry civil bill.

Allison, from the committee on appropriations, said the estimates for the next fiscal year are $395,000,000. Judging from the estimates made last year and from receipts up to the first of January last the receipts for next year including estimated postal revenue will be $410,000,000, making a surplus of $15,000,000. If congress should deem it necessary to expend a larger sum than five millions for coast defenses that a larger sum would increase the estimates beyond $395,000,000; and if we should appropriate more than twenty millions for the navy that over appropriation must be added.

Beck thought the senator from Iowa (Allison) was mistaken in his estimates of expenditures. He thought he could show that the surplus revenue this year would be nearer ninety millions than fifteen millions.

Teller said that in all calculation as to revenues and its reduction the senate should take into consideration and believe that the executive departments of the government would enforce the surplus law. It was said that the country was full of complaints as to the great amount of money coming into the treasury. He had heard no complaint of that kind. He did not believe that any considerable portion of the people were to-day complaining that too much money was going to the treasury. He did not believe that one per cent of the people of the United States were complaining of the rates of taxation, either on imports or internal revenue, but the complaint was that when this money came into the treasury it was locked up and kept where the public did not have the use of it, and that it ceases to be of any practical benefit to the people. There were plenty of opportunities to pay out of the treasury the revenue that was now there and all that would come in the next year, even if there should be a surplus of [illegible] millions. A few days ago the admiral of the navy had sent to a distinguished member of the house a letter in which the astounding statement was made that the United States government had only one ship that could in three months do service, and that ship has only one single gun. The Dolphin was the only vessel that the government had got which could be put to sea within three months, and yet some persons were crying out against the surplus in the treasury. The country was without fortifications on the coast. All the great seaports of the country could be raided by any fifth-rate naval power, by Chili, China, Japan or Spain. Not only that, but every city on the great lakes was equally exposed. Under treaty with Great Britain the United States had agreed to keep upon these lakes but one war vessel and he understood that that vessel to-day had only a cast iron gun, which was used to announce the rising and setting of the sun, and was scarcely good for that. England could put on the great lakes a fleet which could destroy every town on those lakes in 24 hours. By the Welland canal England had access to the lakes and could send these iron clads and war vessels and bombard Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and all the great cities of the lakes. Was it wisdom therefore, or was it worth while, for the senate to spend its time in determining what should be the reduction of revenue when there was necessity for such vast expenditure. England, France and Russia possessed between them 18,000 high power naval guns, while the United States could boast of but 25. We had gone on in this way, Mr Teller continued, a great many years. We were at the absolute mercy of any people who might choose to assail us. Ships, fortifications and guns could not be made in a day. A hundred million dollars was stored in the treasury of San Francisco, and a single iron clad could compel the authorities to surrender it or suffer destruction of the city. Yet congress sat on from day to day and considered whether the tax might not be taken off of sugar or tobacco or internal taxes be reduced. It was the duty of the legislative branch of the government to take immediate steps to prevent national disgrace. The people believed guns, ships and fortifications ought to be built, and he called attention to the fact that 95 per cent of the expenditures would go to American laborers.

Mitchell of Oregon offered an amendment appropriating $60,000 for a light house at Cape Meares, Oregon. Agreed to.

The bill was then reported from committee of the whole to the senate. The general appropriation for survey of public lands was increased from $50,000 to $75,000, and the bill was then passed.

Dawes reported the Indian appropriation bill and gave notice that he would ask that it be taken up to-morrow.

Teller called up the senate bill providing for a military post near Denver, passed by the senate and amended by the house, and moved that the house amendment be concurred in. Carried. The bill passed appropriates $100,000.

The senate passed a bill authorizing removal of the quarantine station from Ship Island, Mississippi. It appropriates $15,000. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

In the house Taulbee, of Kentucky, as a privileged question, called up the message of the president vetoing the bill granting a pension to Carter W. Tiller. The pension was granted on the ground that Tiller was the dependent father of a soldier who died in Andersonville prison. The veto is based on the president's belief that Tiller is neither deserving nor dependent.

Springer, of Illinois, raised the question of consideration, but the house decided, yeas 1[illegible], nays 10[illegible], to consider the pension case. After debate the house refused to pass the bill over the veto, yeas 150, nays 115, not the constitutional two-thirds in the affirmative.

Norwood of Georgia, from the committee on naval affairs, reported a joint resolution authorizing the secretary of the navy to re-advertise for bids for the construction of cruiser No. 1, and to contract for its construction for any sum, which together with the cost of equipment not including armament, shall not exceed $1,300,000. Committee of the whole.

McAdoo of New Jersey introduced a bill to provide for the manufacture by Americans of first class modern guns for navy and sea coast defense. Referred to the committee on military affairs. The bill appropriates $20,000,000.

Oates of Alabama, of the committee on revision of the laws, called up in the morning hour the bill to prohibit the appointment of congressional committees to attend funerals at the public expense outside of the District of Columbia, and also to prohibit draping of public buildings in mourning, except upon the order of the president.

On motion of Hammond the bill was laid upon the table, 119 to 40.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the pleuro pneumonia bill.

Warner of Ohio offered an amendment limiting to sixty the number of persons who may be employed at one time to carry out the act. Agreed to.

Cutcheon of Michigan offered an amendment providing that experts to be appointed shall be appointed under civil service rules.

This was voted down, but Cutcheon raised the point of no quorum, and the committee rose and the house adjourned.

The Markets

NEW YORK, February 2. Governments dull and steady. The stock market showed less animation, and the moving causes of excitement yesterday seem to have entirely died away. The opening was firm to strong, advances over yesterday's final quotations ranging from ¼ to ½. There was considerable feverishness and irregularity during the forenoon although dealings were only moderate in volume, and the tone generally firm.

Mining shares were quiet and steady with the following closing prices bid: Best & Belcher 5, Bodie 1.75, Caledonia (B. Organization of Alaska.

WASHINGTON, February 2.—The house committee on territories to-day favorably considered the bill for the organization of the territory of Alaska. The bill provides for the establishment of a civil government over all the country ceded by Russia to the United States under the name of Alaska, and designates the town of Sitka as the seat of government. It also provides that the territory shall be entitled to a delegate in the national house of representatives, to be elected by the qualified voters of the territory.

The senatorial election contest in Indiana has been brought to a close by the election of David Turpie, who is a democrat and United States attorney for Indiana. Robinson, the democrat labor member, who had hoped to force one of the great parties to elect Allen, the labor candidate, gave up the struggle and went over to the democrats, who thus secured the necessary vote. It is understood, however, that the republicans will make up a formal case for contest before the United States senate.

The resolution of the state legislature urging congress to make an appropriation for the protection of the cattle industries of the state has been passed and signed by the governor. The matter of contagious disease amongst cattle is especially important to this state, dependent as it is in great measure on its grazing industries for prosperity. The action of Colorado in this matter should be followed by all the state and territorial authorities and sufficient pressure should be brought to bear on Washington to make the resolutions bear fruit.

The action of the New York authorities in not protecting the men who desire to work is deserving of the strongest condemnation. The present strike is one that deserves little sympathy and those participating in it should be dealt with summarily. It is merely an organized attempt to "squeeze" the companies irrespective of right or law. When men have real grievances to redress they have the sympathy and support of the whole community back of them, and they generally succeed, but it is just such foolish, uncalled for attempts that alienate public sympathy and will in time destroy the power of the organizations.

The panics on the Paris Bourse and London stock exchange are not important, save as a feather to show the political wind and the general feeling of uneasiness. Much more suggestive was the Emperor William's remark that "Once before we had to dissolve the reichstag, owing to its refusal to pass an army bill, and then the differences between the government and the parliamentary majority were only brought to an end by a foreign war." Meanwhile the United States is busily engaged in twisting the tail of the British lion on the seacoast, and France, under General Boulanger, keeps the birds on the imperial standards of Austria, Germany and Russia moving uneasily on their perches. Truly war is in the air. Who will start the ball a rolling?

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican has a most scathing article on New York and its lack of enterprise in supplying the long legged Jonathan of the eastern states with that accompaniment of intellectual life—baked beans. In a fine burst of eloquence the Republican describes New York's attempt at Boston's specialty as "a delusion and a bad joke." It then goes on to demolish the average New York bean. It describes it as "squashed in a mortar," "white as milk" and "boiled with a great slab of boiled beef or ham." After having a John L. Sullivan encounter with poor New York's endeavor to cater to Boston's depraved tastes and adding a still more biting six lines of description it scornfully remarks "and this is all New Yorkers know of baked beans."

The surplus revenue in the treasury has brought forth a number of valuable suggestions for its disposal and a number of little bills ranging from $50,000 to $20 000 000, the amount is a very secondary matter. The favorite mode of disposal is to expend it on a navy. Despite the fact that all the principle writers on naval matters in the foreign reviews are remarking on the fact that the constant improvement in naval equipment is making most of the vessels useless those solons continue to cry for "ships." Harbor defense has some rationality about it as a means of expending the revenue, since it appears that the revenue is to be spent. This defense is especially important on the great lakes where Canada has an immense advantage over us on account of the Welland canal, as pointed out by Senator Teller. Still one has a sneaking idea that a good land battery might make it warm for any vessel passing through it. It might, too, be awkward to have a fleet bombard New York, but all we have to do is to join issue with one of the great European nations and the others won't have any extra ships to fool around our coasts.

The resolution of the Colorado legislature, which is to be acted upon to-morrow, to thoroughly investigate the disturbances in Archuleta county, should immediately be passed and acted upon. It appears that the county is in a state of anarchy and that a mob headed by a democratic sheriff Hight, on January 3, forced, with threats of personal violence, the county commissioners, who are republicans and Mexicans, to resign. The matter has but just come to light. The commissioners J. B. Martinez, J. P. Archuleta and Charles Scase, were elected last November, at the same time as Hight. There was intense party feeling at the polls which has since increased. It culminated as stated above, and the commissioners are now in Denver attempting to gain redress. In his absence Mr. Scase's house at Pagosa Springs, the scene of the disturbance, has been burned. The democrats claim official corruption and the formation of an "Archuleta ring." A specification of charges has been sent to Governor Adams signed by members of both parties which he thinks shows "that it is not a political matter." At present it is almost impossible to get at the facts of the matter. It is evident, however, that whatever the causes an illegal and threatening assault has been made upon the commissioners. Whether the matter is political or the result of race prejudice the action remains unjustifiable. The time has gone by when mob law was necessary in this state and the action of the state legislature and its outcome in the matter will be watched with interest.

PERSONAL

The late Sergeant Ballantine held the theory that he was a master of whist when as according to Mr. Labouchere he played the game execrably.

Ernest Ingersoll, the well known writer, lecturer and naturalist, has accepted a position as the head of the publication department of the Canadian Pacific railway and will make his home and headquarters in Montreal.

Victor Emmanuel's monument in the Pantheon of Naples consists of a huge bronze tablet seven feet high and sixteen feet long, surmounted by a Roman eagle which measures ten feet in breadth of wing. The whole is made of the bronze of old cannon. The inscription is "Victor Emmanuel II, Father of the Country."

In his younger days the late Earl of Iddesleigh was esteemed the cleverest amateur actor in England and at one time he actually thought of going on the professional stage. Later in life he was much interested in the church, and read the lessons in his son's church at Pynes probably as often as Mr. Gladstone performed the same services at Hawarden. He was also the author of a revised and improved form of the marriage service.

The death has recently occurred of James Nicholson, the last survivor of the storm beaten passengers of the Forfarshire who were rescued by Grace Darling. He never forgot that awful night, when, as he and all in her, going thought, an angel with long, yellow hair flowing in the wind appeared pulling vigorously to their ship's side through the storm and drift but he very rarely spoke of it.

The Indians who possess the faculty of connecting names with ideas, have nicknamed Sir John A. Macdonald "Old To-morrow," for the reason that he is accustomed to put people off. Sir John was so much the counterpart of Disraeli that when in 1873 the Canadian tory premier called upon the British tory premier the latter was actually startled, and when he had gauged him mentally as well as physically remarked that he might be his long lost twin brother. Sir John's gift of making newspaper correspondents imagine he gives them news is very great. Once an eminent ecclesiastic came from a distance to obtain from him an appointment for his nephew. Sir John wrung both his hands in a state of ecstacy and said "Monseigneur, the place is too small for your nephew. I wouldn't offer it to him. Just you wait till to-morrow." And he did. But to-morrow never came and the ecclesiastic is dead and so is the nephew, and Sir John is getting out of scrapes of the same nature every day by the same means. But still somehow or other, every one likes Sir John.

Review of the Bullion Market

Messrs. Mocatta and Goldsmid have prepared the following review of the bullion market:

"During the past year the range of the fluctuations in the market has been abnormally great, the price having fallen from 47d in January to 42d in August, and recovered to the former quotation in November. For the first three months prices varied only slightly between 47d and 46⅞d., supply and demand being both moderate, but early in April a downward tendency was apparent, and from that time till the beginning of August a more or less rapid fall continued, with only one intermission, and during July the decline was so rapid as almost to assume the dimensions of a panic. The lowest point was reached on the 3d of August, when 42d was quoted, but very soon an almost equally rapid improvement commenced, by which the highest price of the year, 47d per ounce, was again touched on the 20th of November. At the end of November and beginning of December there were a few days during which no transactions took place, the last quotation given being 46½d. on the 27th of November, after which date no buyers could be found for the silver then offering, until the 2d of December, and then only at 45d., a fall of 1½d. per ounce. As soon as the market was cleared a few continental orders, attracted by the low quotation, caused a rally, which carried the price in a fortnight up to 46⅞d., and from that time the variations have been trifling, and the market closes at 46⅝d., with a firm appearance. In our last annual circular (December 30, 1885) we mentioned that there was at that time a more general belief than heretofore that the American congress will suspend if not repeal the Bland act, and this, no doubt, prevented any rise in bar silver, but it is remarkable that when congress decided not to disturb the existing legislation regarding silver, instead of the recovery which might have been anticipated, the rapidity of the fall was rather accelerated. The immediate cause of the serious depression which commenced in April was the continual succession of lower rates of exchange in India, produced by the anxiety of Manchester houses to obtain silver for future shipments to India. The subsequent improvement may be ascribed almost entirely to purchases made here for account of the French government for the coinage of dollars for Tonquin. The buying was so strong in the latter part of the year that it is believed in some quarters to have had a speculative basis. The general feeling at the present moment is rather favorable to silver, it being assumed that with a good Indian business the demand is likely to increase in January. The shipments of silver to India during the year have amounted to £4 500,000, against £5 00 000 in 1885 and the sales of India Council bills and transfers have been about 1558 lakhs realizing £11,-600,000, at prices varying from 1s 6 1 16d to 1s 4 d per rupee, showing the usual relation to the silver quotations. Mexican dollars were in moderate demand for China in the early part of the year and afterwards for the French government whose orders have kept the price during the greater part of the time relatively higher than bar silver, though of course the quotations have varied to some extent in proportion to that of bars. For the first four months the price remained very steady at about 45 d. per ounce and then gradually fell to 41 d., the lowest of the year, in August, advancing afterwards in sympathy with bar silver to 46d., the highest point on the 18th of November. There was a temporary decline to 45d. on the 3rd of December, as in the case of bars, but the price rose immediately to 45 d., at which it remains firm. The average price is 44⅝d. against 47 15-16 d in 1885. The imports have not been quite so large as usual, probably owing to a greater proportion of the colony's being diverted to San Francisco, only about £1 700 000 having been received here against £2 500 000 last year. The shipments to China and the straits have been only about £1 000 000 against £1 500 000 in 1885. The total imports and exports of silver in bars and coin for the last seven years have been as follows:

	Imports	Exports
1880	£15 0000	£7 550 000
1881	7 00 000	7 000 000
1882	10 000	8 0 000
1883	9 000 000	8 7 000
1884	9 6 5 000	9 10 000
1885	9 3 000	6 00 000
1886	15,000	10 000

The gold movements of the year have been very large, and have been distributed throughout the entire period. Nearly four millions in sovereigns have been taken from the bank for South America, three millions and three-quarters in French coin and bars for France, and one million and a half in bars and coin for the United States, as well as smaller amounts for Lisbon and Egypt. On the other hand the bank has received about two millions in sovereigns from Australia, one million and three quarters from other quarters, and three millions in bars and coin from South America, the United States, etc. These figures merely represent the operations of the bank, besides which large sums have been received (chiefly from the United States) and taken in the open market for exportation making up the total imports and exports to the amounts mentioned below. Within the last fortnight an abnormal shipment of gold to the extent of about £130 000 has been made to Australia, but it is not thought probable that the demand will be of any great extent, as was the case in 1884.

	Imports	Exports
1880	£ 9 8 0 0 0	£11 5 0 000
1881	10 000 000	1 5 000
1882	14,1 0 0 0	12 10 000
1883	7 000 0	3 5 000
1884	10 8 0	11 000
1885	13 4 0 0	11 0 000
1886	13 0 0 0	13 0 000

The following particulars respecting the prices of Chili bar copper during the past three years have been forwarded to us:

1884	Highest, March	£13 15 0
	Lowest, December	8 7 6
	Average for year	10 1
1885	Highest January	10 15 0
	Lowest December	8 11
	Average for year	44 1
1886	Highest January	45 0
	Lowest, December	47 2
	Average for year	54 0

The minimum figure for last year is the lowest on record.

A PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT.

The Minnie Huff Concert Company at the Opera House Last Evening.

There was a very small audience present at the concert at the opera house last evening given by the Minnie Huff Concert company. The smallness of the audience is certainly to be regretted, for the entertainment was of such excellent merit that it deserved a more liberal patronage. Those who were present, however, greatly enjoyed the concert and many who are competent to judge pronounced it to be one of the best, if not the best, that the city has ever had the pleasure of listening to. The programme, while not a very long one, was a very carefully selected one and the interest of the audience never abated from the beginning to the close. This is more than can be said of most entertainments of this kind where too often long and tedious programmes are presented.

Mrs. Maude Orr Nelson needs no introduction to a Colorado Springs audience. Her powers of execution have greatly improved within the past year and her selections last evening were given with a skill and precision which only hard study and practice could have achieved.

Mr. Emil Winkler is undoubtedly the best violoncello player in the state. He has the power of extracting from his instrument a tone so smooth and so soft which but very few artists upon this instrument possess. His bow executions are the synonyms of grace and finish. The Mazourka by Popper he rendered in a manner which brought forth a round of well merited applause.

The baritone solos by Mr. D. J. Kelley were well received. This was Mr. Kelley's first appearance in this city as a soloist, except in opera, and we can truly say that he created a very favorable impression. He has a voice of considerable compass, and a distinctness of enunciation which is certainly worthy of the highest commendation.

Mr W. H. Hill gave an excellent violin solo which was very well received.

The appearance of Miss Minnie Huff was the signal for an outburst of applause, which was redoubled when the first selection which she gave was finished. Miss Huff had hardly sang a few lines before her audience realized that they were listening to a singer, and a singer of more than ordinary talent. During her five years residence in Europe Miss Huff has thoroughly mastered the German language and her pronunciation in the first number which she gave was almost perfect. A distinguishing quality or characteristic of her voice is its sweetness. The presence of this quality was not lacking in any of her selections last evening and was especially noticeable in her rendition of Annie Laurie which she gave in response to an enthusiastic encore. The compass of her voice was amply shown in her first number on the programme, and it was patent to all present that it was even capable of severer tests than were imposed upon it last evening. Miss Huff's voice is moreover a sympathetic one, and it is very easy to imagine the effect of her singing upon the large audience present at Governor Pitkin's funeral. Miss Huff has indeed a bright and promising future before her to which she is justly entitled as a reward for many years of patient and industrious labor. We hope that in the near future she may again appear in Colorado Springs, when we bespeak for her a much larger audience than that which greeted her last evening.

The programme as presented last evening was as follows:

COLORADO NEWS.

Over $30,000 is annually spent in Denver for flowers.

A party of Midland surveyors are now within nine miles of the Utah line.

The Santa Fe board of trade will visit Denver on the 16 h inst.

The total expense of the United States courts held in this state last year were $40,-153 16.

The trade of Denver for the year 1886 including manufactured products amounted to over $72,000,000.

The Colorado Coal & Iron company has enough contracts for the manufacture of rails on hand to keep them running six months.

There has been but little snow on White river and the cattle are doing finely. Some hay is being fed, but only at intervals of several days.

Ranchmen are getting $45 per ton for hay in Aspen. The stage companies are paying $40 for it delivered at points on the Glenwood road, where it is needed.

The Montezuma Water Supply company is now progressing finely, and there is no doubt but that the water will be rolling through the valley by May 1st of this year.

Mat Daly, an employe of the Jo Reynold's mine at Aspen, jumped into the bucket in the absence of the engineer and fell to the bottom of the shaft, 330 feet. Strange to say he sustained hardly any injury.

Carbondale, a new town at the junction of the Aspen & Western and Rio Grande roads, in Garfield county, is having a boom of considerable importance. A townsite has been laid out and lots are selling rapidly.

A town company has been organized and land purchased for the purpose of establishing a town at Mitchell Springs in the Montezuma valley. Title is procured to 360 acres of land. The survey and platting of the town will begin in a few days. The town will probably be christened Mitchell Springs. There are a few houses located at the springs already.

The lifeless bones of a man who had evidently been killed by mountain lions were found a few days ago in the eastern part of Arapahoe county. Evidences of a terrible struggle were abundant. The remnants of a rifle lay on the ground. The stock was broken to splinters, and the barrel was bent into a perfect hoop. Only the boots and white felt hat of the unfortunate man were left.

Larimer, Weld, Arapahoe and Boulder can grow wheat enough to bread the entire state, or a couple of states if needs be, while Delta Mesa and Montrose can, and yet will grow all the fruit required by the entire people of all the counties. The agricultural and horticultural possibilities of Colorado are simply immense. Turn on the water and give the soil a show and the world cannot beat it. [Field and Farm.

Bill No. 25, creating a bureau of labor, has been introduced into the state legislature. It provides for a commissioner of labor, appropriates $9500 to sustain the bureau two years, provides a salary of $2400 per year for the commissioner, requires a bond of $5000, provides for an office in the city of Denver, requires the commissioner to collect statistics of all kinds of labor, wages, etc; it also requires the commissioner to visit the scene of strikes and settle trouble peaceably if he can.

There promises to be an oil boom in a new part of Colorado ere long. In Archuleta county there are springs where oil can be gathered by the gallon, which as to quality has been proven the best cold test lubricating oil yet found, worth about twelve dollars per barrel as it comes from the earth. A company recently formed has obtained a lease from the state of four thousand acres of the best oil land in the Archuleta oil district and will commence active developing operations this spring, with ample capital for the purpose.—[Pueblo Standard.

Suppression of Cattle Diseases.

DENVER, February 2. At a meeting of the executive committee of the Colorado Cattle Growers' association held in Denver to-day the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the safety of the cattle industry of America imperatively demands that the general government shall adopt vigorous and prompt measures for the eradication of contagious bovine diseases. We earnestly commend every feature of the Miller bill for the extirpation of contagious cattle disease, but believe that the department of agriculture which has spent three years' time and a large amount of money in the investigation of bovine diseases should be charged with its execution.

The following resolutions, introduced in the house on Monday by Mr. Skiff, passed the senate to-day and received the signature of the governor.

To the Congress of the United States.

Your memorialists of the general assembly of the state of Colorado would respectfully represent that

WHEREAS, Contagious pleuro pneumonia is known to exist in several states of this union, and the imminent danger of the spread of the same to the large and unprotected cattle herds of the west is viewed with alarm by our citizens, and if this as well as other contagious and infectious diseases among live stock is not prevented by prompt legislation by congress and protection given this vast industry it is liable to cause great destruction to the live stock interests of this and adjoining states and territories; and we further represent and state that owing to the vast area of the plains and our inability to fence and protect our ranges from daily incursions of cattle from one range to another renders it impossible to successfully quarantine against the spread of said disease, therefore be it

Resolved That the congress of the United States be and is hereby requested to pass such laws as will effectually extirpate all contagious diseases of the character mentioned by placing in the hands of competent agents of the general government full and complete power to act in all matters relating thereto, and that sufficient appropriation be made of not less than one million dollars to pay all necessary expenses of the same.

Long-Distance Telephoning.

PHILADELPHIA, February 2.—A telephone suit involving the right to erect and maintain long distance telephone wires between New York, Philadelphia and various large cities was begun in the United States circuit court by a bill in equity filed this afternoon by attorneys for the Brooks Telegraph Construction company. The defendants are a part of the Bell telephone syndicate and have organized a corporation which has recently opened offices in various cities. The prospectus issued by defendant company says that telephone exchanges in New York, Brooklyn and adjacent cities are now being equipped for a metallic circuit service in connection with these lines, by which Philadelphia business men will be placed in direct speaking communication with any of the subscribers to telephone exchanges in New York and surrounding cities and villages in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, numbering in all over 15,000 stations. Plaintiffs claim that they bought the exclusive right under patent to make and use metallic circuits throughout the United States for a term of seventeen years from February, 1881; that they have expended large sums of money in perfecting the system; but that defendants are violating this exclusive right. It is claimed that the rapid application of the long distance telephone to modern business purposes renders the prospective value of ownership of the metallic circuit, to be centered in the courts, second only to that of the telephone itself.

German News

BERLIN, February 2.—Minister von Hoffman, secretary of state for Alsace-Lorraine, in an address to the Alsace national committee, contends that the vast majority of the population of Alsace-Lorraine do not desire that France should go to war for the reconquest of those provinces. He urges the people of Alsace-Lorraine to elect a member of the reichstag who will show that those are their sentiments. He says such expression of their feelings will make a profound impression on France.

The Hungarian workmen's party is said to appeal for subscriptions to defray expenses of German socialists' election campaign.

The Metzer Zeitung says four regiments of infantry have been sent to reinforce the garrison at Metz.

Thirteen Alsace-Lorraine members of the last reichstag have issued a manifesto in which they say if re-elected they will again vote against the Septennate.

A Texas Tragedy.

SAN ANTONIO, February 2.—Sheriff Johnston to-day received a telegram that his brother R. H. Johnston, a prominent citizen of Uvalde county and postmaster at the town of Cobean, was murdered yesterday by a desperado named Case Ray. The postmaster Johnston received a warrant by mail for the arrest of Ray, with instructions to deliver it to the sheriff. Ray hearing that a warrant had been received called at the postoffice to ascertain the truth of the rumor, and shot the postmaster in cold blood. Just as Johnston fell with a bullet through his neck he fired a load of buckshot into his murderer's face. Ray was arrested and will probably be lynched.

European Markets

LONDON, February 2, 3:30 p. m.—Stock exchange markets are sensitive and nervous. They opened very flat. A better feeling set in on a rumor that General Boulanger, French minister of war, had resigned. Prices fell later on reports of lower prices on Berlin bourse. They have since become firmer on dispatches from Paris reporting a steady market there.

PARIS, February 2.—At noon to-day 3 per cent rentes were 77 francs 3 centimes, a decline of 47 centimes. A better feeling then prevailed, and at 2 p. m. rentes had advanced 75 centimes.

Manning's Bank

PHILADELPHIA, February 2.—United States Treasurer C. N. Jordan was in town to-day and held a conference with Samuel R. Shipley, Geo. F. Tyler and others relative to the allotment of stock in Philadelphia of the Western National bank, to begin business in New York May 1st. It is stated definitely that Secretary Manning will be president and Jordan is to be cashier.

Rachel and Ristori.

Paris Letter in Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Revue Internationale has just published from the advance sheets of Rossi's memoirs, some curious anecdotes which the great tragedian relates respecting Rachel and Ristori at the time that the Italian troupe, headed by Ristori and Rossi, were giving in 1855 a series of representations at the Salle Ventadour. "All the principal actors of Paris had come to our theatre," writes Rossi, "from the artistes of the Comedie Francaise down to the comedians of the Funambules. Rachel alone had never made her appearance. One evening she finally made up her mind to come to see her celebrated rival. Hidden in the depths of a baignoire, she was present at a part of the performance of "Myrrha." I say part advisedly, for after the third act the audience beheld her, agitated with convulsive wrath, enter one of the proscenium boxes in which sat one of the imperial princes, to whom the scandal of the day declared that the great actress was united by the tenderest ties. She seized him by the arm and compelled him to quit the box, as if to say, 'Is that the famous actress? Is that the celebrity they prefer to me? Nonsense!'

"The next morning the papers reproduced the scene and exaggerated the scandal. Two or three days later the Comedie Francaise announced "Phedre," with Mlle Rachel. Ristori, like a true countrywoman of Machiavelli, would not act that evening, provided herself with a good box well in view of the public, and went to the performance. The audience was most brilliant. The emperor was present. Never had Rachel acted more superbly, and the spectators were wildly enthusiastic, and ruined their gloves in their applause. Adelaide Ristori always gave the signal for the plaudits, which she did with so much warmth that a witty journalist remarked the next morning concerning the reciprocal value of the two actresses in the two representations, 'In Rachel nature prevailed, and in Ristori art.' The phrase was malicious but witty, and the critic was forgiven. Also was pardoned the attitude of Ristori on the occasion of an attempt against the life of the emperor when he was on his way to the Italian Theatre. A pistol shot was fired into his carriage, but it failed to touch him, and the emperor took his seat in his box in perfect tranquility. Word was brought to him that the performance could not commence, La Ristori having fainted upon hearing of his peril. The emperor immediately sent his own physician Dr. Conneau, to inquire respecting her condition. 'It is nothing, your majesty,' said the doctor on returning. 'She only fainted with one eye she will soon be all right.' The next morning the emperor sent Mme. Ristori a magnificent bracelet, set with a single large pearl and starred with diamonds. Only one eye only a solitary tear."
